The Alex Cave Series Book 4. Gravity (Volume 4) James M. Corkill

A piece of advanced technology starts dragging satellites from the sky and begins changing the orbit of the moon.

In this action packed science fiction adventure from bestselling author, James M. Corkill, geologist Alex Cave receives an urgent message about an unusual geologic event in Iceland. When he arrives, he sees two video recordings. The first is of large globules of glowing magma rising from a glacier. The second video, taken in the exact same place several days later, shows a deep tunnel into the volcano. He is asked to investigate the strange phenomenon, and what he discovers at the bottom is an alien device capable of being more powerful than a nuclear weapon.

Before he can retrieve the device, it is stolen and activated, but for some reason it cannot be turned off. It starts dragging satellites from orbit and threatens to bring down the International Space Station. When it begins changing the moon's orbit, the extreme tidal effect could destroy the shorelines of every continent in the Northern Hemisphere, unless he and his friends can find a way to re-stabilize the orbit of the moon.

Also, he must make a life altering choice when his soul mate threatens to leave him because she thinks he's just an adventure junkie, and it's ripping his heart out that he can't tell her the truth. He is just trying to save humanity from annihilation.

Can Alex and his friends find a solution for this dire situation? Find out in this epic new adventure by James M. Corkill.
