Tales from the dark side is a collection of stories that ask the question 'What if?' when we deal with what should be normal situations. These are tales of individuals and families and their personal experiences and some disturbing insights into the realms of the underworld. Ranging from an insight into the mind of an assassin through the dreadful atrocities perpetuated by the former corrupt regime of Chile in the 1980's and what and what happens if something goes dreadfully wrong with a massive colonisation project, this collection explores human nature and its dark side. Sometimes it is the ordinary that carries with it a disturbing shudder; the ordinary modern home, a baby's pram, the prophets of doom on the commute to work or the night of a themed party. All this and more is explored in this collection of short stories.
